

Resource Room Students Head to Philly, Dickens Exhibit, and Light Show

On Monday, December 5, the third, fourth, and fifth grade Resource Room students went on their annual trip to Philadelphia to see the Dickens exhibit in Macy's on Market Street. The students and their teachers rode the train into the city from Chalfont and stopped at the Comcast Center. Then they walked to Macy's and viewed the Dickens exhibit and the Light Show - always a special treat! Afterwards they returned to the Gallery for lunch in the Food Court by way of Reading Terminal Market, where they saw this year's model train exhibit. Finally, after lunch they rode the train back to Chalfont and returned to school for the last hour. As usual, all of them enjoyed the trip—teachers and students alike!
